understanding, misrepresentation and abuse, he has demonstrated courage, patience and ability and has made real and definite progress both in legislation and administration. He has shown that he is more interested in curing evils than in denouncing them, in moving steadily and surely forward than in talking about the desirability of moving forward.

His Obligations to President.

"These, it seems to me, are the qualities peculiarly needed now in the presidential office. It would be false modesty for me to ignore or to expect others to ignore the fact that the judgment thus expressed is the opinion of a member of the cabinet, subject to such conscious or unconscious influences as arise from that association, but I hope the personal note will be excused when I say that the appointment was not sought, but was offered under circumstances that compelled acceptance and that imposed no political obligations of any kind; that no such obligations were then or have ever been suggested, and that the personal and official association has at least afforded the opportunity to form an accurate opinion of the character and the capacity of the president and of his ideals and methods.

Denounced as a Radical.

"The people of Chicago do not need to be told that I am and have been an earnest advocate of progressive policies. In fact, I have been enough of a progressive to have been denounced as a radical. I still stand for those policies and it is due to the president to say that no department head could ask from the chief executive a more intelligent appreciation, a more helpful co-operation or a more uniform and unswerving support than I have received in the work of the department of the interior.

"He is a conservationist who appreciates that conservation will be a useful and enduring policy only to the extent that we make it a practical and conservative policy. He has, therefore, not contented himself with reserving coal fields and timber lands and water power sites, although he has withdrawn many of them in the public interest, but he has been chiefly interested in securing laws under which these withdrawals can be restored to development and effective use. His vigorous support of a leasing law for our public coal lands is a case in point. So it has been with respect to other important and progressive policies.

Praises Taft's Tariff Stand.

"Whatever may be thought of the tariff law that was passed during the first year of his administration, it must be remembered that many of its duties were reduced as a result of his insistence, and that through it he not only obtained justice for the Philippines, but has done more than any other man to establish the policy for which the progressive republicans have for years contended—the policy of revising the tariff not as a log rolling patch work, but schedule by schedule, after accurate information has been obtained by a nonpartisan and competent commission.

"To his initiative was due the amending of the federal statute for the regulation of railroads, which has enabled the interstate commerce commission to make its power effective. To his courage and prompt action was due the suspension of the general advance in railroad rates, and this action was subsequently justified by the unanimous decision of the interstate commerce commission.

Antitrust Act Attitude.

"He appointed the railroad securities commission, of which I happened to have been a member, and he approved its unanimous recommendation of effective publicity in all matters connected with the issuance of railroad stocks and bonds, and of giving the authority and the means with which to make physical valuation of railroad property. Why has his message not been effectively followed up by those of his critics who have so vehemently advocated these policies for years?

"For years the demand of the progressives has been that the Sherman antitrust act should be enforced and its efficacy be determined by the courts. President Taft has enforced the act until those who have violated it no longer regard it with contempt. None has been clearer than he that it needed to be supplemented by constructive legislation that would provide effective regulation, preventing the abuses of the great corporations while protecting and promoting the legitimate business of the country. He has refused the reactionary demand that the Sherman law should be replaced just when its efficacy has been established through his efforts.

Jury Freed Chicago Packers.

"At the same time he has stood firmly against the demand that indiscriminate criminal prosecution should be commenced. He appreciates, as every business man appreciates, the importance of defining more clearly the offenses that are to be criminally punished. It was a jury which acquitted the packers in Chicago. He has urged in vain that congress adopt a federal incorporation law which would afford the most effective means of regulating the great corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

NEMESIS OF GEN. GRANT DEAD.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The death in a secluded Brooklyn suburb of James Dean Fish, ninety-three years old, became known today through announcements in the newspapers. Fish was president of the old Marine bank, the failure of which in 1884 was marked by scenes of disorder never equaled in Wall street. The closing of the bank swept away the savings of General U. S. Grant, and the investigation which followed sent Fish to Auburn prison and Ferdinand Ward, Grant's partner, to Sing Sing.

Fish and Ward planned by a series of daring speculative operations to make the firm of Grant & Ward the most powerful financial institution in the country. The firm was originally composed of U. S. Grant, Jr., and Mr. Ward. Then General Grant, who had retired from the presidency several years before, bought a share in the business. General Grant, never a keen business man, was deceived, and finally there came the fatal fizzle in Wall street, followed by the crash.

After his release from prison on a pardon granted by President Cleveland, Fish lived in strict seclusion and passed much of his time in his library. He had a rare collection of books and old prints.

$1000 BILL FOUND IN THEATER.

CHICAGO, March 30.—A $1000 bill, believed to have been one of the notes in the $173,000 worth of government money that mysteriously disappeared from the Chicago subtreasury Feb. 19, 1907, was found in the lobby of the Majestic theater yesterday afternoon by Herbert Klein, doorman for the theater. The bill is now in the hands of the United States secret service bureau. It is said that the number of the bill corresponds to that of one of the missing bills.

George W. Fitzgerald, former teller in the local subtreasury, is under indictment by the federal grand jury for the alleged theft of the money and he will be brought to trial soon, according to the government prosecutors.

The bills that were missed from the treasury were of $1000, $5000 and $10,000 denomination.

In the finding of the bill the government believes it has found an important link in the chain of circumstantial evidence in possession regarding the alleged theft.

IN REVOLT AGAINST FRANCE.

GIBRALTAR, April 4.—The greatest dissatisfaction is manifest in all parts of Morocco concerning the establishment of the French protectorate. The conferences between the sultan, Mulai-Abd-el Hafid, and his vizier and ministers have been stormy. The Berber tribes are in open revolt against the project and large forces have moved to a position within two hours' march of Fez, the capital. It is said that the sultan does not know how to act and that he seems to be in an almost desperate frame of mind.

The Franco-Spanish negotiations are proceeding slowly and are already causing anxiety. After concluding the treaty with Germany last November France took it for granted that Spain would be easily dealt with, but such has not proved to be the case. It is asserted on excellent authority that in the secret treaty of 1904 M. Delcasse, the French minister of foreign affairs, promised the northern part of Morocco to Spain. The latter now refuses to abandon its claim and evidently intends to stand firmly for its rights.

SOCIALISTS CUT OFF POLL LISTS

VIENNA, Austria, April 4.—Through what are asserted to be fraudulent tactics on the part of the Christian socialists, the names of 30,300 voters, most of them social democrats, have been excluded from the polling lists for the impending city elections.

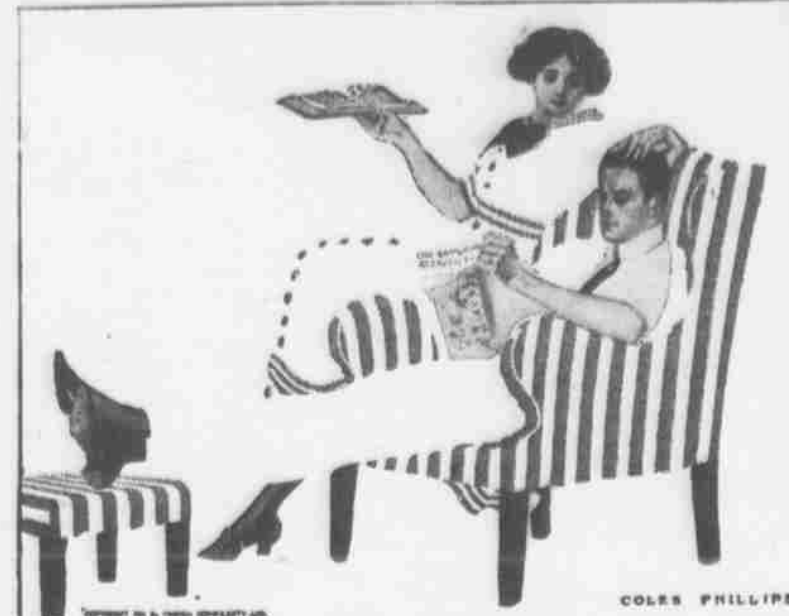

The social democrats are furious, declaring that the situation is scandalous. They point to Berlin, where, with 56 per cent more voters, there were only 6,000 appeals for reinstatement on the registers.

The contest promises to be an unusually bitter one. The workers are incensed at the present Christian socialist administration, which they allege is run entirely for the benefit of the privileged population.

WHY COLDS ARE DANGEROUS.

Do you know that of all the minor ailments colds are by far the most dangerous? It is not the cold itself that you need to fear, but the serious diseases that it often leads to. Most of these are known as germ diseases. Pneumonia and consumption are among them. Why not take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and cure your cold while you can? For sale by all dealers.
